Welcome Workshop Wednesday 28th May

Please save the date for a Welcome Workshop to take place on Wednesday 28th May from 7-9pm in Shirley House. All welcome but particularly those involved in a welcoming role in the church- in the many forms which that takes. Lifts can be provided for those who need them.

Thy Kingdom Come

Join the global wave of prayer 29th May - 8th June Thy Kingdom Come (TKC) is a global ecumenical prayer movement that invites Christians around the world to pray, from Ascension to Pentecost, for more people to come to know Jesus. For the 10th anniversary of Thy Kingdom Come, this year's Novena is based on the Lord's Prayer and is written by the Archbishop of York, Stephen Cottrell. The Prayer Journal is also based on the Lord's Prayer and includes contributions from a variety of voices across denominations and traditions. You can pick up your copies of these in the narthex today; there are also copies of resources to help you to undertake a digital detox. These resources are also available online - see <https://www.thykingdomcome.global/resources-0> for more information.

Geology Walk: 29th May – 2pm

Join John and Peter for a geology walk around the city centre. Sheffield has a variety of rocks in its pavements, curbs, street furniture, buildings and monuments. We will explain the origins of these materials and discuss their suitability for their preset function. Meet at the Women of Steel statue outside the City Hall in Bakers Pool at 2.00pm on Thursday 29th May.

Is your pension contributing to Israel's attack on Gaza?

You are paying into the South Yorkshire Pension (SYPA) if you are a member of the pension scheme, or through paying your council tax. The pension scheme invests in arms manufacturers that are helping the destruction of Gaza and the murder of innocent civilians, including thousands of children. The South Yorkshire Divest for Palestine Campaign is running a petition to urge SYPA to divest from this harm and instead, to invest in sustainable local enterprises such as green energy, social housing and home insulation. Next steps to a Climate and Nature Bill Scientists, economists, business leaders, church leaders, along with millions of ordinary people, realise this: our best chance of avoiding catastrophic climate change and a total wipe out of nature is to deal with these crises together. As importantly, it must be done in ways that are fair to the poorest and most vulnerable in all countries – and to avoid a backlash against planet-saving measures.

That is where the Climate and Nature (CAN) bill comes in (previously called the Climate and Ecology Bill). There are now more than 180 organisations, as well as faith leaders, scientists and politicians, supporting the bill. After the government failed to back the bill at its second reading in January, but made some relevant promises, the campaign is stepping up.

The next step is for citizens of all constituents in the UK to write to Prime Minister Keir Starmer, calling on him and the government to face the stark reality on climate and biodiversity loss, and get behind the practical and fair actions to address the twin crises. You can swiftly sign (and amend if you wish) an email to the PM at <https://www.zerohour.uk/> Zero Hour – Join the campaign for the Climate and Nature Bill. As the UK heads for what looks like another unusually hot and dry summer, now is the time to remind our government of the urgency of joined up action for climate and nature.

Eco Tip - Put your phone purchase on hold

The manufacture of one new smartphone — including mining rare earth elements and shipping the completed unit to stores — eats up as much energy as a decade's worth of typical phone use. Make a smarter call: Keep your current phone for three to four years. It's simply greener than buying a new one. And when it's time to hang up, check the manufacturer's recycling program.
